4. Healthcare Insurance and Financial Information

Bon Secours Hospital Cork is covered by all major private health insurers. Please bring your Health Insurance Provider Plan and membership number with you on the day of your admission.

An excess amount and/or a shortfall amount may be payable by you, depending on the health insurance plan that you have purchased. To ensure smooth admission to the hospital please be aware of the following:

- A Policy Excess: This is specified in your policy as the amount payable by you before your health insurer is required to pay anything. Normally this is a once off payment per each admission to hospital and is payable in advance of admission.
- A Policy Shortfall: This is the difference between the charge for hospital treatment and the amount your health insurance plan covers. Shortfalls are usually applied on a per night basis. For example, many health insurance plans provide cover for shared room accommodation (semi-private) only. If your plan covers you for semiprivate room accommodation only and you avail of private room accommodation you will be liable for a shortfall payment.
- You may be accommodated in a private room during your stay even if you have not requested one. This can be for a variety of reasons including for infection control purposes. Also, Bon Secours Hospital Cork has a limited number of shared rooms, and it may not be possible to provide you with shared accommodation during your stay. In such circumstances, you may be liable for a shortfall payment. Private room shortfalls vary depending on the insurance plan and can be very significant. Bon Secours Hospital Cork limits the private room shortfall at €80 per night for a maximum of 4 nights during any single admission. Patients who have multiple admissions to the hospital will have the private room shortfall capped at €720 in any calendar year.

Prior to your admission, you should check your level of cover directly with your health insurance provider. Contact details are as below.

The survey offers you the opportunity to tell us about your experience. We have partnered with Cemplicity, an international company that understands the unique requirements of the healthcare sector. Your responses will provide us with information to help us evaluate the standard of services we provide. Your experience will provide valuable insight into where we should focus our quality and service improvements. We hope you will also inform us of any positive experience during your stay in the hospital.

You will be asked questions about your hospital stay, the ward environment, your care and treatment, how our staff interacted with you and each other, and your discharge. Information about your medical history will not be asked for.

If you wish to lodge a formal complaint, please go to Conflicts, Complaints and Differences of Opinion on page 21.

In the event that the above arrangements do not meet your individual needs, we will facilitate alternative religious and spiritual support.

16. Hospital Staff

Our hospital is staffed around the clock by highly skilled healthcare professionals working together to provide you with quality care and treatment. All Hospital Staff wear a name badge for identification and security purposes. Expect staff to introduce themselves when they enter your room and look for their identification badges.

Bon Secours Hospital Cork is a teaching hospital affiliated to the University College Cork Schools of Medicine and Nursing. Nursing students may participate in your care during your stay. Student Nurses always work under the direct supervision of a qualified Staff Nurse. Medical students occasionally attend ward rounds with Consultants. If you would prefer medical students not to be present during your consultations, please let your Consultant or Nurse know. This will not, in any way, affect your care.

17. Your Protection and Safety

You have a right to protection from harm during your hospital stay. In this regard, policies, procedures and guidelines have been developed to standardise practices within the hospital, which include:

- protection of the patient from physical assault.
- care of children.
- care of the aged patient.
- care of the mentally and physically compromised patient and others.

Your name and date of birth are your unique identifiers while in hospital, and staff are required to check and re-check this with you prior to any procedure/treatment or serving your meals. You will also be issued with a unique identification number upon admittance.

In the unlikely event of a fire or other emergency, you will be advised of the proper safety procedures including evacuation of the room, ward, or hospital. Your attention is drawn to the fire notices and emergency exit signs displayed in each area.

For your personal safety, please note the following:

- There is a Nurse call bell button beside your bed and in the bathrooms which rings at the Nurse's station. Use your nurse call bell when you need any assistance.
- If you think you have been confused with another patient, inform your Nurse immediately.
- Handwashing is the most important way to prevent the spread of infections. Do not be afraid to remind a Doctor or Nurse to do this.
- Ensure that staff confirm your identity by either checking your wrist band or asking your name and date of birth before administering any medication, conducting any tests, providing any treatment, or serving your meal.
- Inform your Nurse of any known allergies (penicillin, peanuts, latex gloves, etc.) and/or special diets (diabetic, gluten free, etc.) that you may have.
- Expect staff to introduce themselves when they enter your room and look for their identification badges.
- Inform the Nurse when you are leaving your ward.
- You may be at risk of falling, so special precautions will be taken to reduce such a risk. We ask for your cooperation in this process. Wear shoes or non-slip slippers when out of bed. Flip-flops are not permitted. A Falls Preventing leaflet is available with your admissions pack.

18. Medication

Your medication history will help us determine what medications are appropriate and safe for you during your stay with us, and after you have been discharged home.

To ensure there is no interruption to your current medication, please bring all your own medication with you when you come to hospital and give these to the Nurse when you arrive at your ward. These may include tablets, liquid medicines, creams, eye drops, inhalers and any over the counter medicines you are taking. Where possible, please bring them in their original containers. These will be returned to you when you are discharged.

Please also give your Medical History form to the Nurse when you arrive to your ward. You would have been given this form when visiting your Consultant's private clinic or the Pre-assessment Clinic. Your medical history is a list of any medications and herbal supplements you are taking, including dosage and times.

Your medication will be reviewed to determine which medications you should continue to take during your hospitalisation. You may be prescribed additional medications to take during your stay. Your Nurse will bring your medication to you as prescribed.

Use the following questions to find out more about the medications prescribed for you:

- What is this medication for?
- What do the directions on the label mean?
- Are there side effects to this medication?
- How much should I take and when should I take it?
- Will this medication interact with other medications I am taking?
- Should it be taken before/after or with food?

Upon discharge, you will be given a prescription with any new medications and your General Practitioner will be informed if he/she needs to continue to prescribe it for you when you are at home.

19. Pain Management

You have the right to have your pain assessed and managed while in hospital. When you arrive at your ward, a pain assessment will be completed. Where necessary, you will continue to be assessed and treated for pain. A pain management leaflet is available in your admissions pack.

If you feel at any time that your pain is excessive, please inform your Consultant or Nurse.

20. Participation in your Care and Informed Consent

You have the right to be fully informed and included in decisions about your care. We recognise that you, the patient is central to the care process and your participation will be supported and promoted if you so wish. Ultimately, you have the right to refuse or discontinue treatment having discussed the possible consequences and any treatment alternatives with your Consultant.

Prior to your admission, your Consultant would have discussed the purpose of your admission, planned tests, procedures and/or treatments, the appropriate length of your stay and the expected benefit of any treatment.

When you present for admission, your General Consent to care as directed by your Consultant is assumed. Your care may involve physical examinations, laboratory testing, x-rays/scans, out-patient procedures with local anaesthetic, the administration of medication and nursing or other healthcare interventions relevant to your condition. You can expect that each intervention proposed will be explained to you by your Consultant or a member of your healthcare team. Use this discussion to ask any questions about the treatment that you are consenting to.

You will be asked to sign an Informed Consent form in circumstances where you require surgical procedures, tests requiring anaesthesia or sedation, chemotherapy/infusions, transfusion of blood components or blood products and participation in clinical trials, investigations, or research. This is the perfect opportunity for you to ask any questions that you may have. If you do not understand the procedure or test you are being asked to consent to, inform your Nurse and your Consultant will be notified. It is important for you to understand the risks, benefits and alternatives available to you.

If you wish to withdraw your consent to any interventional treatment, please inform your Consultant or Nurse and your wishes will be respected.

During your hospital stay, you have the right to be informed of:

- Any results of investigations undertaken
- Planned treatment which may be required to meet your needs
- Details of your diagnosis or details of your medical condition
- Course of treatment
- Whether further referrals are required
- Risks and side-effects of treatment or medications
- Purpose and risks of having an anaesthetic
- Purpose and risks of sedation
- Prospects for your recovery

Keep yourself informed about your care throughout your hospital stay by asking questions and voicing any concerns you may have.

- Can you please tell me more about my condition?
- How long can I expect to be in hospital for?
- Why do I need to have this test?
- What are the different treatments for this condition?
- What are the risks of the treatment?
- How will this procedure help me?
- What are the possible risks of the surgery and what are the chances of these happening?
- What will happen after the surgery?
- How long will the procedure take?
- I had a bad reaction to an anaesthetic before. Who will I talk to about that?
- I feel weak; can you help me to the toilet please?
- Can you help me with my pain?
- I do not understand what this medication is for, can you explain to me?
- What are the possible side effects of this medication?
- Do I have all my personal belongings?
- Do I need a prescription?
- Do I need any post discharge instructions and advice?
- What will I do if I have any difficulties or concerns after I am discharged?

End of Life Care

Bon Secours Hospital considers it essential that every patient has the right to compassionate and respectful care at the end of life and all patients who are at the end of life deserve a peaceful and painless death. When ethical considerations or personal dilemmas arise, staff will be guided by Bon Secours Hospital Cork Clinical Ethics Committee.

Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation

All patients admitted to the Bon Secours Hospital will receive cardiopulmonary resuscitation in the event of a cardiac or respiratory arrest, unless a 'Not for Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation' order has been signed. It may not always be appropriate to continue with life sustaining treatments or initiate cardiopulmonary resuscitation. You have the right to express your wishes and preferences in this regard.

Organ Donation

Bon Secours Hospital Cork does not have the clinical resources to facilitate Organ or other Tissue Donation for transplantation or research. However, the hospital will facilitate any arrangements necessary should it become evident that your medical condition determines organ or tissue donation a possibility. The hospital refers to guidelines from the Bon Secours Hospital Cork Clinical Ethics Committee if required.

21. Family Participation and Patient Advocacy

You may also find it necessary to include family members in discussions about your care or to appoint a specific patient advocate. Your advocate can be a trusted family member or friend. Ensure that your family or advocate understands your preferences for care.

An advocate can:

- Offer you support
- Speak on your behalf if you so wish
- Ask questions that you may not think of
- Help remember answers to questions you have asked and speak up for you if you cannot
- Review consent forms with you before you sign them

22. Preparing for Surgery

---

Please refer to the Hospital's booklet entitled My Surgery for information on preparing for your surgery.

23. Be Infection Aware

---

While it is not possible to prevent all infection, we are focused on preventing the transmission of infections using robust systems to prevent the spread of infections. Good hand cleaning practices by both staff and patients and maintaining a high level of cleanliness is important to reduce the spread of infection.

You can protect yourself from infection and help prevent the spread of infection.

Prior to your Admission

- Inform the admissions office if you develop vomiting or diarrhea or any respiratory symptoms (cough, fever, sore throat etc.) within 48 hours of your planned admission.
- Inform your Consultant prior to your admission if you have been previously advised that you are a carrier of an antibiotic-resistant bacteria. This will not affect your admission or your procedure, but it will allow the hospital to take necessary precautions to prevent the spread to other patients, for example, you would be nursed in a private room with your own toilet and hospital staff would be required to wear gloves, apron, or gown.

During your Stay

- Clean your hands regularly and use the hand sanitiser gel. Always do this after you go to the toilet and before you eat.
- Do not share your personal things with other patients – for example, your phone, your earphones, etc.
- Keep away from other patients' beds.
- Do not let anyone sit on your bed, and do not sit on another patient's bed.
- It's OK to remind staff to clean their hands.
- It's OK to tell a staff member if you see anything that is not clean.

During your hospital stay, you may be more vulnerable to picking up a healthcare associated infection. Healthcare-associated infections are infections that can you pick up in any healthcare setting such as during a hospital stay, treatment in outpatient clinics or a stay in a nursing home. Some healthcare-associated infections can be caused by your own bacteria - bacteria that is harmless for healthy people, can cause infection in patients with a reduced or weakened immunity. Other infections are caused by antibiotic-resistant bacteria or 'superbugs', for example, Vancomycin Resistant Enterococci (VRE), Methicillin Resistant Staphylococcus Aureus (MRSA), Extended Spectrum Beta Lactamase (ESBL) or Multidrug Resistant Organisms (MDRO). You may pick up these infections in hospital from contact with other patients, or from contact with hospital staff and equipment. If you have had a lot of antibiotics, you may be more prone to developing an antibiotic-resistant bacteria infection.

After your discharge

- Follow any instructions with regard to wound care in order to prevent infection at home.
- Take medication as prescribed.

24. Risk of Blood Clots Post Surgery

---

You have a higher chance of getting a blood clot in hospital than after a long-haul flight. A blood clot can form up to 90 days after being in hospital. A blood clot can form inside a blood vessel, usually in your leg, which may break off, go to your lungs and in some cases, cause death.

You may be at increased risk if:

- You are in hospital and for the 90 days after discharge
- You are immobile for long periods of time or air travel longer than 6 hours
- After surgery
- You are on cancer treatment
- You or a close relative had a blood clot in the leg or lung
- You are over 60 years or are overweight
- You are pregnant and for the 6 weeks after birth
- You are taking oral contraceptive pill or hormone replacement therapy
- You have heart, lung, or inflammatory disease
- You have thrombophilia
- You have varicose veins with phlebitis.

You can help prevent clots developing by walking/moving as much as possible especially after surgery, drinking plenty of fluids and following the advice on wearing stockings and taking medication as prescribed.

The signs and symptoms of a blood clot are as follows:

- Swelling or pain in your leg or calf
- Warmth or redness in the leg or calf
- Fainting
- Shortness of breath or rapid breathing
- Chest Pain when you breathe deeply
- Coughing or coughing up blood

If you experience any of these symptoms, inform your Nurse immediately.

25. Risk of Pressure Injuries

You may be at risk of developing a pressure injury during your hospital stay. A pressure injury occurs when an area of your skin and/or the tissues underneath become damaged or injured. Lying or sitting in the one position for long periods of time can reduce the blood supply to a specific area which can contribute to the development of a pressure injury. You are at an increased risk of developing pressure injuries if you have reduced mobility, poor nutrition/hydration, reduced feeling of pain and/or poor circulation. Pressure injuries usually occur over bony areas such as heels, elbows, buttocks, shoulders, back of the head and hips.

It's important to check your skin regularly. If you notice any changes to your skin, such as changes in colour, temperature, texture, or pain, inform your Nurse immediately.

You can also help prevent pressure injuries by:

- Moving and changing your position regularly. If you are unable to move yourself, ask your Nurse for assistance. When sitting in an armchair/wheelchair, try to shift your weight regularly.
- Talking to your Nurse about pressure injury preventions aids such as gel/air cushions for your chair or an air mattress for your bed.
- Keeping your skin dry and clean. Barrier products are available to protect at risk skin.
- Having a healthy, high protein diet can help with pressure injury prevention and wound healing. Good fluid intake can also help maintain healthy skin.

26. Preparation for Discharge

---

We realise that patients ultimate need is to get home without delay. Should you anticipate any difficulties which may delay your discharge, please inform your Nurse as soon as possible so that solutions can be found together. We believe that discharge planning is an important aspect of your care. Our staff will liaise with you throughout your stay to ensure that your discharge is properly planned and facilitated.

27. Going Home

Your consultant will decide when you are ready to be discharged and will advise both you and the nursing staff. On the day of discharge, please ensure:

- ✓ you understand all follow-up instructions and what to do if you have any difficulties or concerns after discharge.
- ✓ all personal items are removed from the locked press in your room.
- ✓ you get a prescription, and any personal medications are returned to you.
- ✓ that nursing staff have removed any needle/cannula from your arm.
- ✓ any sutures/clips are removed or an appointment for removal has been arranged.
- ✓ any private x-rays or MRI films have been returned to you.
- ✓ that you settle any outstanding accounts at reception.

We ask that you vacate your room as early as possible on the day of discharge. This gives us an opportunity to prepare for patients awaiting admission. Wheelchair transportation is available to any department within the hospital and to your car.
